Officers Reports

The Treasurer thanked all those who have paid 1987 dues, and requests anyone who has not to please get them in by the meeting in March. (Time to make new roster.)

The Vice-president announced a Valentines Day sweetheart dinner was in the works. An informal vote set the date for February 14, at Bill Leshers Restaurant. We had a good turnout, for a very enjoyable evening.

Program

Lou Owen presented a fine program on aircraft charging systems, complete with drawings, diagrams, photos, and dirty pieces of equipment. Thanks, Lou.

Old Business

A suggestion was made by the president that we consider, for a project at Oshkosh, to build a floor in the War Birds area. If someone has another idea, or is interested in going to Oshkosh for a weekend prior to the convention, contact Tom Watkins.

We have received a certificate for the "Final Leg" for our additional contribution to the EAA Museum, and now have a wing on our brick!

New Business

A need was discussed for new gravel for our parking area. Also spraying for weeds may be desirable.

Another idea was mentioned to get some current photographs of members for the meeting room. Airplanes are nice, but to whom do they belong?

For those that would like another night out for aviation, Tom Watkins suggested that those who want could start meeting on the third Monday of each month. The purpose would be to discuss aviation or whatever. Informal and optional.

Odds & Ends

Mike Beck, a guest at February's meeting, has received final approval for a private airstrip that he plans to build about three miles west of Eagle Creek.

Piper has issued a service bulletin warning not to use autogas in any of its airplanes. (This may be precautionary to help avoid liability.)

It was reported that the chief medical examiner of the FAA has been replaced.

Scholarships may be available to young people for the EAA Academy.

Proposed alcohol and drug testing of pilots is a topic to watch with concern. Many unanswered questions could affect all of us.

Next Meeting will be on Monday, March 2, 1987. Our program is to be provided by Bill Thornberry. See you there!

Respectfully submitted,

Peter J. Murphy
